IOCB Prague Summer Student Program 2017 First Announcement

If you have finished your bachelor's degree and have started a master's degree in organic chemistry, biochemistry, molecular biology, theoretical chemistry or a closely related field AND are looking for summer work experience, the Institute of Organic Chemistry and Biochemistry of the CAS (IOCB Prague) is offering the opportunity to expand your scientific horizons while living in Prague, one of the most vibrant and beautiful cities in Europe...

This program is designed to provide students with engaging and meaningful work experience, opportunities to expand their professional networks and chances to develop their skills and competencies by receiving valuable feedback from experienced scientists.

Starting this year, we are offering this exciting opportunity to students who are European citizens. The Institute will provide students with accommodation at a nearby dormitory and will support students with the equivalent of 790 € (8 weeks). The cost of transportation is to be covered by students.
